On 11/10/2024, a visit to Kiran Medicare Hospital was organised with the aim to educate students about laboratory techniques and equipment used in clinical settings, specifically focusing on the cell counter, biochemistry analyser, and blood sample isolation processes.

On arrival students had a formal meet with Dr. Rakesh Wasson. He introduced them to Mr. Sunny, a lab technician who guided them to the laboratory. At first, they were shown cell counter and biochemistry analyser. He explained the functions and importance of these devices in diagnosing health conditions.

After that a live demonstration of the cell counter was conducted. Students observed how the device counts and analyses different types of blood cells, including red and white blood cells, and platelets.

Then biochemistry analyser was showcased, with a focus on its role in assessing metabolic functions and organ health. Students learned about common tests performed, such as glucose, cholesterol, and liver function tests. The technician highlighted how results from these tests guide clinical decisions.

A step-by-step demonstration of blood sample isolation techniques was provided to students for proper sample handling and preparation for accurate test results. They also discussed about safety protocols and best practices for working with blood samples were emphasized.
